BLIND GIRL TO DIRECT SLUM WORK

from being earried out. Mayor Lunn has planned to establish a board of public welfare in his city and is to place Miss Keller on the board. Although dumb and blind, Miss Keller in the mayor's estimation would be a great acquisition on the board, ewing to her ability as a social reference. The object of the board will be to co-ordinate with the existing agencies, such as health and education, and to provide machinery for carrying out the larger purposes of a twentieth century city. Miss Keller says, in reference to her prospective appointment: "One thing I would try to do would be to wipe out the slams, for it is there that sickness, disease and immorality ent rather than to alleviate."

Anti-Ring Candidates Address Electrical Workers; Ring Receives a Roasting.

If Kelly had him bottled up for 15 ears, as he asserted that he did, lke Alderete popped the cork Friday night, and efferyesced. He sparkled. Perhaps the 15 years in bond had something to do with it. Anyhow, Ike made the biggest hit of all the anti-ring candidates who appeared before the members of local No. 583. International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, Friday night in their headquarters at the intersection of Kansas and at the intersection of Kansas and Overland streets.

Ike hit straight from the shoulder and in his talk he intimated that he could tell more about the ring than it would care to have said. That is the reason like said "Old Kell," during the 15 years that he had been running with the ring, always compelled him to make his speeches in Spanish. "Kell," he said, was afraid he might say too much.

"Kell," he said, was afraid he might say too much.

Ike stated that he was making his first speech in English in 15 years, and he enjoyed it. He reveled in it, so he said, and he lambasted the ring in such a way that brought the electricians to their feet. They cheered Ike from start to finish. Ike even surprised his running mates by his speech.

Threatens to Tell Things.

Threatens to Tell Things.

R. M. Reed, campaign manager of the anti-ring pasty, introduced ike by saying he was like Champ Clark's dog and the ring had kicked him aroun' some, but they would have to quit kickin' him aroun' on July 27. In opening up. Ike said the ring would have to quit kicking him around before that time, because if it did not, he would turn state's evidence, whatever he meant by that. He said he was just waiting for the ring to open up on him, when he would turn loose nome hombs that would annihilate the members of the ring.

"I have been with the ring quite awhile," Ike began. "For 29 years I have been supported by it, and the ring threw me down."

"Why did it throw you down, Ike?" a voice cried.

"I will tell you," replied Ike. "Because I furnished an old Mexican woman the money to pay for a law-suit over some property on South El Phao street in a suit with Kelly.

"The ring has tried to ruin my character. I might be a little wild, but those fellows are rattlesnakes in the grass."

"Bridgers, that wrinkle face, the "Bridgers that wrinkle face, the other night said things about my office. He spoke about the pletures of nude women on the walls in there. of nude women on the walls in there, the cushions on my couches, and the Turkish rugs on the floors. I have only the picture of my little girl hanging on the wall, and some calendars from the business houses there. I keep my office clean. If you can get into Bridgers' office, and you can't do that before 2 o'clock in the afternoon, you will come out of there scratching.

"I am not so bad. I just want those guys to open up on me and then I will show them up. That's why Kelly would not let me speak in English. He was afraid of what I would say. Vote for me. I am a pretty good guy."

Ban Jackson Praises Candidates.

Dan Jackson, candidate for judge of the 34th district court, on the anti-ring ticket, got up and had a good word to say about every candidate on that ticket, omitting to say anything for himself. However, the others said it for him.

W. H. Fryer, candidate for county

W. H. Fryer, candidate for county attorney, had something to say about W. W. Bridgers being the payen of the ring, the ring being headed by Kelly, and how taxation ought to be equalized. He referred to the city requiring a $20,000 bond from the contractors who erected the sewage disposal plant at a cost of $30,000 as a great blunder on the part of the present city officials.

blunder on the part of the present city officials.

"You remember the time of the strike on the G. H." said the speaker.

"Well, both the county and the city furnished guards to the company. Dr. Thatcher about this time brought a suit against the railroad company for damage the water had done to his property by reason of the building of a culvert. The railroad company made the city a party to the suit, because it was really the city which built the culvert. The city officials went to the railroad officials and told them that if they did this they would pull off all the guards, and the result was the company dismissed the suit as to the city. I know. I was there.

"I know these commissioners. They go down the valley and secure options on some land at $20 an acre. Then they come back, and suddenly they discover they need a road in that vicinity. Up the valley or down the valley it is all the same. They built a road down to Fabens and stopped it at Kelly's ranch. Why, the commissioners started to change the Fort Biles road, after people had bought property along there, and counted on the road being built that way, just because Dr. Brady, a ring man, had just bought some property in Manhattan heights, and wanted the road to go by it."

Why Albro Fights the Ring.

"The reason why I am fighting the

Why Albro Fights the Ring. "The reason why I am fighting the ring," said A. S. Albro, candidate for county surveyor, "is, because of the unfair things I have seen done in the surveyor's office. There was J. E. county surveyor. "is, because of the unfair things I have seen done in the surveyor's office. There was J. E. Hainer, county school superintendent. When the ring was making up the licket, it decided they would not put him on it again. The only thing the ring had against him was, that he wan not in his office often enough. The law requires that the superintendent spend four days out of the week in visiting different schools in the county. When Rainer found the ring had left him off the ticket he came down to Eubank's office and had a heart to heart talk with him. Eubank told him in my hearing that Kelly was running things, and for him to go over and see him, and tell him he would be good, and stay in his office more. Rainer went over to see Kelly, but he did not have any luck, apparently.

Kelly, but he did not have any luck, apparently.

"I make this statement because Bridgers got up the other night and said there was no connection between the county ring and the city.

"Two years ago there was a man named Kinney, who ran a store at Clint," the speaker continued. "Kinney had the audacity to announce for commissioner. The ring went to him and asked him to withdraw, but Kinney remained firm. His friends backed him up. Well, we were building a road down that way, and every man that was on the payroll was instructed not to trade at Kinney's store. The road was run up to within 100 feet of Kinney's store, and there it was stopped. The ring broke Kinney. Broke him financially, and this is what it intended to do when he would not draw down. If I am elected to the office there will be no boycott run on anyone."

E. V. Bowden, candidate for county

al. The district court on the anti-ring ticket, got up and had a good word to say about every candidate on that ticket, omitting to say anything for himself. However, the others said it for him.

Harry Turner, candidate for county clerk, as opposed to Park Pitman, told the electricians that he was a broth-orhood man, and despite what the ring had said about him, relative to being a Republican, he had voted for Pitman for 14 years. He stated that he wanted a chance at the office, and would appreciate their votes.

T. J. Cassidy, aspiring to the office of county tax assacsor, said: "I have office is the first time that I have ever aspired to an office, and I want your support for myself and the whole antifing ticket."

V. E. Ware, the anti-ring candidate for county function that it had done everything to him that it had to W. B. Ware, to him that it had done everything to him that it had done terms for four the plant. They have to wind him the had voter in the had voter up to the door of the jail. "Bridgers said that the matter of the removal of the reservation was a proposition for the city administration and ought to be left for next spring. Bridgers is county attorney. He could remove it if he wanted to. Billy also said that there was nothing common between the ring and the city. Well, a short time ago there was a vacancy in the commissioner court, and a man from Ysleta wanted the office. He appealed to judge Eylar, president of the board of commissioners. He was told to go to Kelly to see what he would have to say about it. If Kelly hasn't got anything to do with the county ring, what was he doing up af Sierra Blanca the Fourth. There were eight antis there and six ring men; among the latter were Kelly and senator. Hudspeth. The sonator is a good ring man. When we got ready to come home, everybody thought we all would return together. A citizen there went up and shook hands with Kelly and told him goodbye. Kelly turned to him, and smiled. Why, I am not going now. You will see more of me. Kelly said to him. Kelly and Hudspeth remained over to gumshoe the work that the antis have done there, but they can't do it."

Tom Lea Makes Closing Talk.

Tom Lea out for chairman of the Democratic executive committee, was the last speaker up. The hour was late and for that reason Lea refused late and for that reason Lea refused to make a speech, saying that he knew the men had to go to work. He invited them to the meeting of the antis at their headquarters, 115 North Stanton street, next Wednesday night, when they propose to have a grand rally.

D. M. Perham, president of the local, arose and pledged the antis the support of the electricians. He stated that the success of the antis in the county fight would be a stepping stone toward the breaking up of the city ring next spring.
